

"LONE WOLF" IS FOUND NOT GUILTY OF DEATH

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24.—“Not guilty,”—that was the Christmas present handed James L. Asher by a jury in Federal court here when the “Lone Wolf” of the prohibition department faced the bar of justice to hear the verdict on a charge he killed Peter Yancauskas during a raid on the latter’s saloon more than a year ago.

For more than five hours the jurors deliberated over the evidence before bringing in the acquittal verdict last night. The trial of the dry agent took five days.
